

Price is pleased to announce our new aggressive approach in the marketing of systems for hospital operating and procedure rooms.

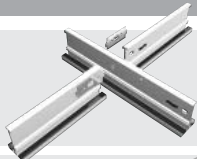

The Acuflow OR Systems™ represents an integrated approach that makes it easy to meet the requirements of your client's critical environments. Information on these exciting systems can be found in Section E of the Price catalog.

The updated catalog section will show how the Acuflow OR Systems™ embraces two of the design approaches most popular amongst engineers selecting air distribution systems for ORs:

price[®] acuflow O.R. SYSTEMS™

Both systems can be configured using a variety of Price manufactured components to suit individual engineering specifications or a specific application. You can pick and choose from the following:
